Dear New Life Family

by Bob See

I've been reading through the book that's tied to our fall series Life's Healing Choices and I'm convinced this is going to be a life changing series for many. In a nutshell it recognizes we all have hurts, hang-ups, and habits that are debilitating or controlling in our lives, but that through Jesus Christ we can find transformation. It will be impactful for many New Lifers AND it will be especially impactful for new people, people who don't know the power of Jesus' love and His gospel.

All around us are people who might have some church background but have pretty much dropped out of church life without ever really knowing Christ. And yet they struggle through life with personal issues or relational problems that they don't know how to work through. Life's Healing Choices gives easy access to people who have never really experienced true Christianity and faith in Christ. In this series they can meet the real Jesus and see how He changes our lives and gives us hope for the future.

So, New Lifer, who can you invite to this series? Is there a family member, a co-worker, a classmate, a friend that has no real church connection? If you pray and make yourself available, I believe you will see God work in your life and give you direction and open doors for inviting people. I am so thankful that, when I was 18 years old my friend had the guts to invite me to a Bible camp where I came to know Jesus— I don't know where I'd be today if he hadn't cared enough to ask me to attend the camp. Is God prompting you to reach out to someone?

The new series starts Sunday, September 12 in all venues. Watch for more details coming soon. But for now I encourage you to pray and ask God to guide you to the people in your life who He is preparing for a series like this.

Thanks for reading!
