

New Lifer News

Dear New Lifer

by Bob See

For years New Life has promoted what is known as the Three Vital Involvements – three spiritual commitments that are firmly rooted in the Bible for every follower of Jesus to practice. These three practices are attending weekly worship, connecting with a small group, and serving in ministry. As the summer comes to an end, I encourage each New Lifer to review where you are at with these practices. As we transition into fall schedules, do you need to re-commit to any of these? Or is God calling you to any changes in these commitments?

Each September we re-launch small groups so this is the right time to join a group. I encourage you now to be praying about connecting with a group. What's more I encourage you to pray about leading a small group or opening your home to host a group. Also this fall we are re-launching the 10:30 Central venue. While the music and message and service format will remain identical to the 8:45 Central service, we will be making improvements to the room that will help create a better atmosphere for community and worship. I want to personally thank the team of volunteers that have caught the vision for outreach that the 10:30 Central venue provides and for stepping up to serve.

Finally, have you found the right place to serve? Maybe it's in a New Life ministry or maybe it's with some ministry opportunity outside the church. To help discover the right place to serve contact Servant Life who has tests and materials to help you identify the gifts and strengths that God has given you. In this way you can gain greater clarity of God's call on your life. For more information contact teresabassett@newlifeonline.org

Attending weekly worship, connecting with a small group, and finding a place to serve – the New Testament promotes all these as visible indications of our commitment to Christ. So as I asked earlier – where are you in these matters? Is it time for any changes? May God guide you as we head into the Fall.
